

Yefimov M.M., Starova T.A. Organizational and tactical peculiarities of interrogation of the suspect in the process of investigation of criminal offenses in the field of human trafficking. The scientific article deals with consideration of some aspects of the investigation of crimes in the field of human trafficking. The attention is paid to organizational and tactical features of interrogation of the suspect in the process of detection and investigation of criminal offenses. When investigating any criminal offense always held a number of investigative (detective) of action. One of the main among them are questioning different categories of persons. This is due to various factors. First, the most common verbal investigative (detective) of action. Secondly, during its conduct psychological contact that is desirable to establish with its members, will provide an opportunity to communicate with them in the future. Third, the procedural action specified in the initial stage of the investigation provides some information for the nomination versions, search for criminals and others.

The purpose of this article is to study the organizational and tactical peculiarities of conducting interrogation of a suspect in the investigation of criminal offenses in the area of trafficking in human beings. That is, the interrogation is very important to any criminal proceedings. Is no exception and investigation of crimes related to the establishment or maintenance of brothels and procuring. The need to obtain testimony from a suspect during the investigation of criminal offenses in the field of human trafficking is specific because it is a person who is interested in certain results of the case and uses the testimony as an opportunity to exercise his right to protection. The questioning of suspects, guilty of trafficking in human beings, has its own peculiarities, since in most cases these crimes are committed by a group of individuals. Therefore, it is first necessary to interrogate persons with less strong volitional qualities or those who played a minor role in the commission of a crime. Such individuals are usually more likely to give true testimony.

Keywords: trafficking in human beings, tactical support, investigative (search) actions, interrogation, tactical reception, organization.