

Klaposhchuk M.M. Tactics used by patrol officers at high risk of stopping the vehicle for inspection. The author has considered the features of tactical techniques of patrol officers when the vehicle is stopped for a high-risk check. He confirmed that for the patrol officer, in order to succeed, it is necessary to continuously evaluate the whole situation before the vehicle is stopped, during the actual stop and after the stop. In order to control the situation, a method of stopping a vehicle with a high degree of known risk in the commission of a serious crime is used if it is known that there is a weapon in the vehicle and the suspects and there is a growing risk for the Police patrol service and citizens.

The author has modeled a sequence of actions of a patrol policeman during verbal communication with a driver of a vehicle and persons in a vehicle suspected of committing a criminal offense. Tactical actions are offered to the patrol policeman in the management of covering units, additional units and a unit for checking a stopped vehicle.
