

Nizelnik O.I. Features of implementation of measures to ensure secrecy in agencies and units of National police (based on the materials of the Main Department of National Police in Dnipropetrovsk region). The article considers the peculiarities of securing the secrecy regime in the bodies and units of the National Police on the example of the Main Department of the National Police in the Dnipropetrovsk region in modern conditions. It is noted that the specified structure of regime-secret activity during the period of its launch and at that time has shown its extreme practicality and expediency, which leads to the proper securing of the regime of secrecy and protection of state secrets in the Main Department of the National Police in the Dnipropetrovsk region.

The activity of the Office of the regime and technical protection of information subordinated to the regime-secret bodies and the state of regime-secret support of operational-service activity in the police units of the Dnipropetrovsk region is under the control of the management of the Main Directorate and directly the Office of the regime and technical protection of information.

Keywords: secrecy regime, state secret security, secret and secret authorities, state of secret security of operational and service activities, regime management and technical protection of information.