Minka T.P. Description of measures of administrative and criminal coercion of counteraction to domestic violence. The article describes measures of administrative and criminal coercion of counteraction to domestic violence. The peculiarities of administrative and criminal responsibility for domestic violence have been highlighted. An analysis of the object and the objective side of the administrative offense provided for in art. 173-2 KUpAP compared with the signs of the object and the objective side of the criminal offense provided for in Art. 126-1 of the Criminal Code of Ukraine. Attention is drawn to the features that should distinguish between administrative and criminal liability related to domestic violence.

Violence is one of the most widespread forms of human rights violations. As a rule, women, children and the elderly are the most affected by violence. The most common and most difficult to counteract is domestic violence. Violence in the family or family is inherent in many countries, despite their positive achievements in the legislative, political and practical spheres.

On January 7, 2018, the Law of Ukraine No. 2229-VIII "On Prevention and Combating of Domestic Violence" came into force. The law defines the organizational and legal principles of prevention and counteraction to domestic violence, introduces new special measures to combat domestic violence, including a new version of art. 173-2 of the Code of Ukraine on Administrative Offenses

The aforementioned legislative acts contain many short stories, namely: they are heavily accountable for domestic violence, many measures of administrative and criminal coercion have been imposed on the abusers, new terminology has been introduced, the established approaches to the administration of justice have been changed in cases related to domestic violence, and therefore Some innovations require clarification and interpretation.

Summarizing the above, it should be noted that the adoption of a new basic law on prevention and counteraction to domestic violence, amendments to the Criminal Code of Ukraine and the Code of Ukraine on Administrative Offenses are a decisive step towards reducing domestic violence.
