

SUMMARY

Holovina O. V. The strategy and ways of solving problems on gender-dependent abuse as the factor of democratical changes in the society. The matters of provision of gender equality and non-discrimination and action against family violence take on particular importance in the current context of democratic Ukraine development. Specified range of problems needs constant attention on the part of scientists, professionals in the field of legal and social and humanitarian knowledge. Gender equality is a fundamental right and an essential prerequisite for the achievement of objectives of growth, social cohesion and democracy. Nevertheless, some equality survives and may get worse provided that education, learning and culture will go on to disseminate gender stereotypes. It is necessary to pay attention to provision of gender equality, equal treatment of girls and boys, as well as gender issues training in order to enable pupil's and student's youth to study successfully and to become self-reliant personalities, responsible and civic-minded citizens. Active efforts in this direction through practical measures are the common need and the major task of social and humanitarian disciplines.

Our research is oriented to the support of educational reformation processes in Ukraine and involves considerable American researches of merely academic and practical focus. The project is intended for Ukrainian public of higher educational establishments and is focused on implementation within Ukraine. The project is aimed at the promotion of the idea of gender equality as one of educational objectives with the use of educational methods, lectures and workshop sessions that have to be developed with the application of researches of American scientists including such as Bosteyn, Mace and Musk in the paper "About the gender" make a clear difference between sex and gender. Unfortunately, there is a substitution of one notion with another in society.

James Elliott and Ryan Smyth in the paper "Race, gender and power at workplaces" study various manifestations of relations of power during distribution of workplaces among women and men and various accesses to education programs among youth in the context of gender differences.

Michael Kimmel, editor-in-chief of the international academic journal "Men and Masculinities", the author of research "The Gendered Society" presented his vision of problem of the formation of gender inequality, forms of its presentation in society, mechanism of continual inequality on the basis of gender differences and the difference among professional and qualification orientation of youth in gender categories.
